Road Toll 20 in September

Twenty people met death on Maine highways during the month of September. Although this figure is only slightly above the average for the month, it represents an increase of eight deaths, or 67%, over last year's below average figure of 12.

Significant is the fact that 15 of the 20 deaths came during hours of darkness. This grim reminder serves to point out the October theme of the Maine State Police campaign to reduce highway fatalities. This theme, "Night Traffic Hazards," urges motorists to "Slow Down at Sundown."

Reckless driving raised its ugly head, being the principal cause of six accidents and the same number of deaths. Excessive speed resulted in four fatal accidents involving the death of six people. Liqueur was associated with four accidents which resulted in four deaths. Pedestrians, seven drivers, six passengers and two bicycle riders.

Personal injury accidents during September numbered 140 as compared with 137 for the same month last year. 264 property damage accidents for this month of September practically balance the 262 for the same period of time in 1950.

Death and injury lurk on the highways waiting to pounce on the driver and on the pedestrian the moment either one relaxes his vigilance.—Lt. John deWinter, Director, Division of Traffic and Safety, Maine State Police.

BRYANT POND REUNION IN BOSTON

Former residents of Bryant Pond (Town of Woodstock) held their twenty-third annual reunion at Parkin's Hall on Boylston Street, Boston, Friday evening, October 19. While several who had planned to come had to cancel their reservations thus making the attendance smaller than usual, there was no lack of enthusiasm, either for the fine dinner or for the excellent program presented by the president, Mrs. Theo Nelson of North Abington. The home town was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway and daughters, Phyllis and Harriet, of Bryant Pond. The club was also glad to welcome Miss Grace Mountfort of Los Angeles, California, one of the original founders of the club.

Miss Clara Whitman of Bryant Pond sent a very fine report of the progress the town of Woodstock is making in regard to its schools, highways and the building of new homes. One of the outstanding features of the program was the fine readings given by Sidney Littlefield. Mr. Littlefield, formerly of Stoneham and Bryant Pond has a remarkable memory for one who has been with us for many years and his readings are always worth while. Fred B. Crowell, one of the well known baritones of Greater Boston, gave several vocal selections. Miss Phoebe Wyman also favored us with vocal selections. Gilbert Woodsum of Sausage gave several trumpet solos which were much appreciated. A half hour showing of pictures of the Maine coast in their natural color was much enjoyed by all.

The Bryant Pond Club of Boston was organized in November 1928. Its numbers have never been large but nevertheless so faithful that this little club has existed longer than most home town clubs in Boston. Its members are again looking forward to the next reunion in 1952. The following are the officers elected to serve for next year: President, Gilbert Woodsum of Sausage; Vice-President, Sidney Littlefield, of North Abington; Secretary, Helen W. Bacon of Boston; Treasurer, Ralph M. Bacon of Boston.

Gould Loses To Berlin In Parents' Day Game Here

A beautiful bright sunny day brought a great number of parents to the Gould Academy campus on Saturday, Oct. 20. Everyone greatly enjoyed the many activities. At 2 o'clock a large crowd assembled to watch Gould beaten by Berlin High School for the first time in many years with a score of 25-5. There was no doubt as to the outcome after Berlin's strong runner, McArthur, ripped off 24 and 4 yard runs for touchdowns in the opening period. Berlin scored again in the second period on a Paul Sullivan to Keene pass. Sullivan rushed the extra point and the Mountaineers led 19 to 0 at half time.

During the last half the teams battled on even terms through both periods, with both coaches using many reserves. Each team scored on sensational runs as first Berlin's Hodgman returned a Gould punt 70 yards for the visitors' final marker. The home team's only score came as freshman Burnham galloped 55 yards through the opposing line to make the final score, Berlin 25, Gould 5.

lies will square off against the Gould eleven with the odds greatly in favor of the visitors. The Bethel aggregation lacking veterans, material, and speed are experiencing their worst year in the past decade. The Andies dropped a close one in their opener against the powerful Skowhegan team; but since then have been all-victorious. Coach Scott's "Blue and Gold" eleven won their opener against Mexico have dropped the last three in a row. Injuries have played havoc with the Bethel outfit and a number of regulars are still in poor condition. The team will have to be at full strength to hold the visitors to a reasonable score.

Tuesday, October 23, Stephens High harriers scored a light 27-23 score in a cross country verdict over Gould. Harley Merrill of Gould paced the pack home and was followed closely by the visitors Clyde Kerr and Bob Boudreau, who tied for second. Merrill toured the 27 mile layout in 13:52. The summary: Gould 23, Merrill 1, Lovejoy 3, Bosworth 6, Rolfe 7, Willard 9, Hastings 11, Nowlin 12, Fortin 14, Jordan 15, Fleet 16, Rumford 17, Kerr and Boudreau tied for second, Poirier 4, Zale 8, Trank 10, Lafleur 13.

Phyllis D. Dock	35
J. Russell Graham	21

That said location was accepted by the voters of the Town of Bethel at a special town meeting held for that purpose on August 11, 1931, that your petitioner is aggrieved by the acts of the Municipal Officers in their location of said way and also as to the damages awarded to him in respect to property taken in laying out said location.

Witness my hand and seal of office at Bethel, Maine, this twenty-fourth day of September, 1931.

KNIGHT - HALL CAMERON - HALL

The church at Hunt's Corner, Albany, was the scene of a pretty double wedding on Sunday, Oct. 14, at 2 P. M., where Miss Beverly Lois Hall was united in marriage with Archie Ricker Knight of Kennebunkport, and her sister, Miss Ramona Arlene Hall, became the bride of Angus Randall Cameron of Jefferson, N. H. Dr. W. I. Bull and Rev. Hilda Ives performed the double ring ceremonies.

Decorations were of autumn leaves, baskets of chrysanthemums and carnations.

Beverly, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon, lace trimmed with train, a shoulder length veil, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Mary Hall, who wore yellow tulle and carried white carnations. Her bridesmaids were Mrs. Ava Bumpus, Albany; Miss Ruth Hutchinson, West Bethel, and Mrs. Norma Andrews, Randolph, N. H. They wore silk gowns of orchid, blue and pink and carried white carnations. Her sister, Asahene, acted as flower girl, wearing a colonial style gown of pink organdy and carrying a white basket filled with rose petals. Her train bearer was Patricia Mosher of Errol, N. H. She also wore a colonial gown of blue organdy. The attendants all wore head bands of multi-colored chrysanthemums and ribbons. Edwin Bumpus of Albany was best man.

Romona was given in marriage by her uncle, Norman Hall, of Bethel. She wore a white satin gown with train and a finger tip veil attached to a sweetheart crown, embroidered with seed pearls. She also carried white roses. Her maid of honor was Mrs. Kathryn Drown of Randolph, N. H. She was dressed in rose tulle and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Jennie Potter, Miss Kathryn Cameron and Miss Millicent Cameron of Lancaster, N. H. All were sisters of the groom. They wore tulle gowns of aqua, rose and blue green respectively and carried colonial bouquets of pom-pom chrysanthemums. Her train bearer was Sharon Drown of Randolph, N. H., wearing pale blue organdy and the flower girl was Betty Ann Andrews of Randolph, wearing pink organdy, both dresses of colonial style. She also carried a white basket of rose petals. All her attendants wore head bands of various colored chrysanthemums and ribbons. The best man was Gerald Brison of Lancaster, N. H.

Miss Ruth Hall, cousin of the bride, played traditional wedding music, preceding the ceremony, also the bridal chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's wedding march. Others were Quentin Hall, Auburn; Robert Hutchinson, West Bethel; Richard Andrews, Randolph, N. H.; Alfred Weeks, Portland, N. H.; Ernest Dupras, Dover, N. H.; Frank O'Brien, Malden, Mass.

NON-FARM JOBS PLACED AT RUMFORD UP 51%

September non-agricultural job placements jumped 51 percent in the Maine Employment Security Commission's office, according to Manager Ernest F. Lever, Jr.

"This placement increase is due in part," Lever said, "to men and women who have been employed for the summer leaving to return to school or college, creating vacancies which must be filled." His office made an even 100 non-agricultural placements last month, compared with 65 in August.

Employers in the Rumford area placed orders for 179 workers last month, and at the close of business Lever said his office had 686 orders unfilled, largely for pulpwood cutters or other woods work, semi-skilled occupations in which it is most difficult to find qualified workers.

Several jobs, calling for unusual qualifications, have been listed with the Commission's other 15 local offices, in an endeavor to fill the key jobs, Lever said. For example an order for an experienced accounting clerk, male, with a good salary, is cleared statewide. Other jobs thus cleared are for three blacksmiths, two experienced tractor operators, 20 heavy trucks, own-er driven.

With the close of the harvest season, Lever noted a heavy drop in calls for agricultural workers, particularly in harvesting beans or other processing crops. Lever's office made 16,584 agricultural placements in August, peak of the harvest season.

If pays to store home-grown vegetables in a cool storage room in your basement. Many Maine home gardeners assure themselves of a supply of vegetables well into the winter in this way.

JOHNNY IS A HERO

by RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

A MOMENT after Johnny decided to speak to the girl in the cocky gray hat who sat across the aisle from him in the sleeper, the train stopped at a watering tank and bandits entered the car. Johnny saw a chance to make a hero of himself.

Since they had left Chicago he had been watching the girl in the cocky gray hat and trying to think up some means of striking up an acquaintance without appearing bold. Once or twice he had caught her eye; her expression was neither inviting nor cold. Yet Johnny hesitated. He didn't want to make any mistakes. This girl was rare among the girls he knew. He wanted to make an impression.

Presently an idea occurred to him. Why not mistake her for somebody else? Silvia Farhi, for example. Silvia Farhi was Hollywood's most recent sensation. This girl across the aisle resembled her. He could say to her: "Excuse me, I've been watching you. I knew I'd seen you before. You're Silvia Farhi, aren't you?"

Johnny took the girl's hand as she was coming down the aisle. Johnny thrust out his foot and the hand slipped. As he went down, Johnny hit him a terrific blow on the side of the jaw. Instantly pandemonium broke loose inside the car. There was a lot of feminine screaming and hoarse male shouting. A gun went off. The aisle was suddenly packed with people.

Johnny took the girl's arm. "This way, Miss Farhi," he said quietly. "There must be more of these chaps around. We'd better get out." He fought his way through the crowd to the door, holding on to her. Another shot sounded. Johnny glimpsed two more bandits. The platform beyond the door he was reaching was empty.

Outside there was a huge water tank, a tiny dwelling house and the street. There were two cars parked beside the dwelling.

Dragging the girl, Johnny sprinted for one of the cars, thrust her in and leapt on the water. A man in a blue serge suit, holding a automatic, came running toward him. The car leapt ahead. The man with the gun stopped and fired. A bullet splintered the rear window. Johnny glanced at the girl. Her face was white, but she was grimly smiling.

"Hurt?" she asked.

He shook his head. "Where are we going?"

"To the next town, notify the authorities, pick up the train there. If we stayed we'd lose everything we had and probably get hurt. There were a dozen of those lads."

He hadn't seen more than three. He wanted to make the situation as dramatic as possible. He wanted the girl to think of him as a hero.

They tore along at a terrific pace. Johnny glanced into the rear-view mirror. Far, far behind a black smoke was following them. He felt when they were kids.

COUNTY SCRAP METAL DRIVE ON FARMS NOW UNDER WAY

A drive is under way to secure as much scrap metal as possible to help in the mobilization effort.

The Oxford County Agricultural Mobilization Committee feels that, since steel to produce the necessary farm machinery, equipment, and supplies represents an important volume in the requirements for this metal, there should be a high farmer participation in this drive. The committee believes that several hundred tons of scrap metal could be collected from the farms of Oxford County during the drive, which ends on November 5, and urges farmers to make an effort to pick up as much scrap as possible to help at this time in the production of more steel which is badly needed.

Nobody's Business

Twice this week we have been told of certain reckless driving practices, the habits of local or nearby citizens, which in time if continued would seem likely to result in a fatal accident. As usual, a fear of the law is the only reason that some of us behave at all good. Surely there are laws enough to cover the behavior under discussion and we believe there are officers enough hereabouts to justify improved conditions. Why not tell the officers? They can use some help.

There is no excuse at all for passing a school bus—in either direction—when it is stopped for its passengers. A new law provides a penalty if you don't stop, but common sense alone should make plain the danger of doing otherwise. Being sorry after you hit a child is no excuse.

We wonder some times why nothing is done about those hidden number plates. Yesterday we saw an expensive car with its registration plate—apparently Maine—two-thirds hidden behind a trailer hitch and the emblem of a prominent secret order. There are others not much better.

N. flags they made last year, learning the locations of the United Nations by playing a new U. N. game, planning a letter writing campaign to French homemakers, and preparing, serving, and eating French dishes. The French dishes are prepared from recipes in a sheet written by Mrs. Helene F. Lee, a French war bride now living in Orono. The sheets may be obtained free from county Extension offices or home demonstration agents or by writing the Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono.
